The Universitat de Girona

Girona

Girona is one of the four provinces that, together with Barcelona, Tarragona and Lleida, make up the Autonomous Community of Catalonia. Each province, in turn, is divided into counties. The counties in the province of Girona are: El Gironès, La Selva, El Pla de l'Estany, L'Alt and El Baix Empordà, La Garrotxa, El Ripollès and La Cerdanya, and some worldwide known sites are placed there.

More about the UdG

- The historical forerunner to the University of Girona, the Estudi General, was founded in 1446 by King Alfonso the Magnanimous, who granted Girona the privilege of awarding degrees in grammar, rhetoric, philosophy and theology, law and medicine. The university studies spread with an excellent reputation until 1717. Then the university was closed because of the Nova Planta Decree and the loss of Catalonia's political identity.
- The recent history of the University of Girona is linked to the Escola Normal de Mestres, a teacher training college, and especially to the initiatives carried out in the 1960s to re-establish university studies in Girona. That was when the University College of Girona and the Polytechnic School were created, attached, respectively, to the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona and the Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya. The Estudi General was subsequently restored, offering studies in business, the humanities, science and social sciences. Finally, on 12 December 1991, the Catalan Parliament approved Act 35/1991, creating the new University of Girona, with contributions from the different university cultures that have turned Girona into a multidisciplinary benchmark.
- These 30 years of history represent a strengthening of the academic offering, an increase in the number of students, more research and a greater presence both internationally and in the region, as well as the expansion of the campuses, now located in the city center, Montilivi and Barri Vell.

A perspective view of a red metal truss bridge crossing a river. The bridge's structure is a complex network of red steel beams forming a series of triangles. The walkway is paved with grey concrete slabs. In the background, multi-story apartment buildings with balconies line the riverbank under a blue sky with scattered white clouds. A person is visible walking on the bridge in the distance.
